I found out about 1997 that I have asbestoses. I knew that there was something wrong because I would get winded fast. The company I worked for ignored us. I tried to arrange for safety classes and was turned down. Another department that works for the same company was given classes on the danger of asbestos and had a physical on a yearly basis.

You can't see or smell asbestos so you don't know it is around you. I was told that we have the right to a safe working area. It takes twenty to thirty years for it effects your lungs.

Our government knew of the danger of asbestos back in the 1920's but did nothing about it.

The garages are still working with asbestos in their work area.

Law firm off Dickinson , Wright and Dennis Archer could be a conflict of interest.
